

Can I feed my T things from the garden ?

Saturday, 05 August 2006

Last Updated Saturday, 05 August 2006

Can I feed my T things from the garden ?

Technically, yes you can, and in most cases, worms and moths, and such like are heartily appreciated by most sizes of Tarantula. However, you must be SURE that the animals you feed your T have not come from an area in which pesticides are found or feed animals that are likely to ever have come into contact with them. Predictably, it is almost impossible to tell. It is a risk I take very occasionally, when all other options are exhausted, and I go and dig up earthworms from some natural woodlands close by.